PRIME PAIRINGS

BETTER TOGETHER: COMPLEMENTARY PIPES & PIPE TOBACCO BLENDS FROM 4TH GENERATION.

Coming from a strong lineage of tobacconists, Erik Stokkebye is the master crafter behind some of the most popular pipe tobacco products at 4th Generation. Under Stokkebye's direction, 4th Generation has developed a well-rounded portfolio of unique blends and pipes designed to produce unique and flavorful smoking experiences. With such a robust offering, 4th Generation is pleased to offer a collection of pipes and pipe tobaccos specifically paired to bring out the best of both the blends and the bowls.

As a nod to his family's legacy as renowned pipe tobacco craftsmen in Denmark, Erik Stokkebye has designated a year to each of these blends and pipes, carefully choosing ones with landmark significance to the Stokkebye family. In addition to adding to the 4th Generation story, this system is easy for pipe aficionados to identify which products pair together to unlock the utmost flavor and enjoyment.

"4th Generation has tobacco blends and pipes dating back to my grandfather's creations in 1855," says Stokkebye. "It's important to me to honor the history and traditions of our family, and tell the Stokkebye story through products that are best enjoyed over time and savored experience."

The paired collection of pipes and pipe tobaccos include:

1855

Erik Peter's Blend features a ready-rubbed blend of mature golden Virginia tobaccos that showcases the exceptional characteristics of natural sweet Virginia tobacco, and is best enjoyed with the thick-walled 1855 4th Generation full bent pipe.

1882

The Founder's Blend is a classic English mix that balances Latakia and Oriental sun-cured tobaccos enhanced with rich Virginias and full-bodied Kentucky leaf. It's blended exclusively to be enjoyed from the deep tapered bowl of the 1882 4th Generation pipe.

1897

Erik Paul's Blend is a rich, aromatic mixture, designed to deliver a rich bouquet of vanilla and honey pulled from golden light Virginias, bronze Burley, and steamed black Cavendish. It is best smoked using the semi-bent 1897 4th Generation pipe that features thick walls designed for cake build-up.

1931

Erik Peter's Blend offers a full-bodied smoke with a Navy flake blend crafted from select Kentucky Burley, overripe Virginia tobaccos, and a trifle of black Cavendish. The 1931 4th Generation pipe features a smaller bowl meant to smoke this blend slower, to give the smoker the ultimate Navy flake experience.

1957

Erik Michael's Blend is light and slightly aromatic, showcasing natural Virginia sweetness and a creamy vanilla room note. The billiard-style bowl and semi-bent stem on the 1957 4th Generation Pipe extract the very best flavors from this rich, unique blend.

1982

A celebration of the Stokkebye family's 100-year anniversary in the tobacco industry, Erik Peter's Blend features a unique mix of golden Virginias, sweet and soft mild black Cavendish, light Burleys, and a touch of Navy flake, finished with a French vanilla and blackberry top dressing. The distinctive taste of this slow-burning mixture is best enjoyed within the walls of the straight oval 1982 4th Generation Pipe.

Reflective of a family heritage built on excellence, and perfected through time, tradition, and expertise, 4th Generation pipes and pipe tobaccos were designed to offer smokers a unique, enjoyable experience, and are best when paired together.
